sulvam, founded by Teppei Fujita in 2014. A graduate of the Bunka Fashion College, backed by a lengthy collaboration with the Yohji Yamamoto Maison, Teppei rapidly earned the acclaim of international members of the trade, first winning the “Tokyo Fashion Award” in 2014 and VOGUE price "Who is on Next? Dubai" in 2015, and later shortlisted for the LVMH Fashion Prize 2017.

With emphasis on alluring masculinity while harnessing the pattern making skills acquired under Yohji Yamamoto, Teppei’s tailoring reinterpretation with a strongly contemporary key and his focus on extremely high quality fabrics and innovative silhouettes led to invitation as guest designer at Pitti Uomo in January 2017, with a runway show held at the Stazione Leopolda during PITTI IMMAGINE UOMO 91.

sulvam is crafted to reflect the times much like an improve jam session in music. The designer himself designs and creates each and every item in the collection, starting from pattern making; it's a design process where fabrics, patterns and cuts are given the highest priority.

Every heartbeat, emotion and thought of the designer is what forms the art of the brand sulvam.
